GET COMM-FIE WITH CO-C

On 1st October, 2021 the Co-curricular committee organized an event titled, "Get Comm-fie with Co-C" virtually bringing forward their creativity and out-of-the-box thinking leading to a session full of fun-filled activity. The event constituted of various rounds in which all the committees participated whole-heartedly.

The event began with a round called "Committee War", which was about all the committees introducing and familiarizing all the participants with their own members but with a twist i.e., through any rhyme, jingle or songs. This was followed by a round of "Musical Ears" whose objective was to distinguish the individual opening credit songs from within the mash up of various daily soaps which are streamed on Netflix. The round following, was tagged as "Netflix and Chill" where the participating committees had to identify the quoted dialogues from Bollywood Movies translated to English. Next in line was a round titled "Speak for your Committee" where a representative from each committee had to put forward the reason for their committee being unique and standing out from the rest and showcase the best of their committees.

Finally, the biggest and most detailed round was reserved for last where the finalist teams emerging from the previous rounds battled out which was "Who will be the next Sherlock". This included various sub-activities like finding the hidden words and solving out the given picture puzzles within the stipulated time-limit.

To summarize the entire event was really fun-filled and the efforts put in by the Co-Curricular Committee was rightly displayed through the smooth and flawless conduction of the event. The event was aimed at giving students a break from the daily schedule and have some recreational moments to be enjoyed amongst the batch and it delivered exactly as promised.
